

Phase 13 — one Ask Alpha voice

Ask Alpha answers the question, then advances. Teaching, integrity, and handoff are gears of that same voice. A repeated question is studied. A verified public name is the only personal address. A price is not invented. A human request is not a win. Delivery stays NOT_SENT. The program is not complete.

Mesa Norte and example.com are fixtures. They are not a claim about a real business.

Automated proof

dotnet test Bliss.Tests/Bliss.Tests.csproj — 248 passed, 0 failed, 0 skipped. New proofs: AskAlphaTests and AskAlphaApiTests. The first explanation contains the missing commission, the private-placement value, and a handoff next step. The same question again says Ask Alpha already answered it. The price reply contains “cannot invent a price” and no dollar sign.

Browser proof

On the Mesa Norte page, the first answer thanks the visitor, says Mesa Norte has not commissioned the work, and advances to a human handoff question. The gear is teaching. The voice stays Ask Alpha.

The same question again keeps the answer and says Ask Alpha already answered that. The next step becomes a human handoff when the visitor wants one.

The price question says it cannot invent a price. The next step is a human handoff. The gear is integrity. The voice stays Ask Alpha. The page disclosure says Mesa Norte has not sponsored the work.
